Estrade Awards 2016 saw an overwhelming response with over 200 nominations received this year. The judges had a grueling task of choosing 29 awardees, who were felicitated at the awards night held on Friday 21st October 2016 in Singapore. For the first time Estrade Media Pte. Ltd. also introduced Estrade BUILT Awards Category that included companies from the Building Utilities sector.

The panel discussion on the challenges faced by India's real estate sector was the highlight of the evening. Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-chief, www.estrade.in moderated the power packed session which included Amit Dhasin, Head Strategy, Housing.com along with the renowned Architect Christopher Benjamin and Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan. The topics discussed include, Government of India's SMART cities project, Affordable housing – which is from the PM Shri Narendra Modi, J's dream project 'Housing for All by 2022', Funding in the Real Estate/Infrastructure sector and new trends in Real Estate Architecture. This was the first time challenges faced by India's Real Estate sector were discussed at an international public forum.

Speaking at the Awards night, Jason Kothari, CEO, Housing.com said, "The Real Estate sector is projected to grow 14% year on year and grow to US$ 850 billion by 2028, accounting for about 13% of the GDP. Economic growth is projected to be 8% over the next 10 years, the highest in the world. Urbanization is expected to grow from 30% to 60% by 2050, this means that around 409 million people will be moving to urban areas. The Government's introduction of various initiatives, such as RERA (Real Estate Regulatory Authority), Housing for All by 2022 and easing norms for FDI, make this the most exciting sector in not just India, but globally. I think that we are all very lucky to be at this time and place, and be a part of this exciting story in India over the next 10 years."

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-Chief, www.estrade.in said, "Real Estate sector alone contributes more than US$ 100 billion to India's economy, accounting for roughly 5% of the GDP. With the Government's push for better infrastructure, the potential for growth and opportunities is endless for all players." He further added, "When you see that Real Estate and Building Utilities players complement each other, a combined platform to bring them together is a major win for all. Moreover, Singapore being the financial and technological hub, and a leader across industries, offers great learning to Indian professionals. Estrade awards bring together the key stakeholders every year."

Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan, Director, Moonpool Consulting Pte. Ltd also said, "There has to be an amalgamation of Commercial and Residential players to create better funding opportunities and make self-sustaining townships." Adding further, "You can't retrofit old cities with haphazard new technology and call them SMART cities. We need a holistic and inclusive approach from the inception stage of such projects."

This awards night was attended by who's who of India's Real Estate and Building Materials industry professionals. Estrade Awards, Singapore, is a strong networking platform to recognise the contribution of Indian professionals that include the real estate developers, building utilities, architects and interior designers.

The judges had a grueling task of choosing 29 awardees, who were felicitated at the awards night held on Friday 21st October 2016 in Singapore. For the first time Estrade Media Pte. Ltd. also introduced Estrade BUILT Awards Category that included companies from the Building Utilities sector.

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-chief, www.estrade.in moderated the power packed session which included Amit Bhasin, Head Strategy, Housing.com along with the renowned Architect Christopher Benninger and Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan. The topics discussed include, Government of India's SMART cities project, Affordable housing – which is Hon'ble PM Shri Narendra Modi Ji's dream project "Housing for All by 2022", Funding in the Real Estate/Infrastructure Sector and new trends in Real Estate Architecture. This was the first time challenges faced by India's Real Estate sector were discussed at an international public forum.

Speaking at the Awards night, Jason Kothari, CEO, Housing.com said, "The Real Estate sector is projected to grow 14% year on year and grow to US$ 850 billion by 2028, accounting for about 13% of the GDP. Economic growth is projected to be 8% over the next 10 years, the highest in the world. Urbanization is expected to grow from 32% to 50% by 2050, this means that around 400 million people will be moving to urban areas. The Government's introduction of various initiatives, such as RERA (Real Estate Regulatory Authority), Housing for All by 2022 and easing norms for FDI, make this the most exciting sector in not just India, but globally. I think that we are all very lucky to be at this time and place, and be a part of this exciting story in India over the next 10 years."

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-Chief, www.estrade.in said, "Real Estate sector alone contributes more than US$ 100 billion to India's economy, accounting for roughly 5% of the GDP. With the Government's push for better infrastructure, the potential for growth and opportunities is endless for all players." He further added, "When you see that Real Estate and Building Utilities players complement each other, a combined platform to bring them together is a major win for all. Moreover, Singapore being the financial and technological hub, and a leader across industries, offers great learning to Indian professionals. Estrade awards bring together the key stake holders every year."

Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan, Director, Moonpool Consulting Pte. Ltd also said, "There has to be an amalgamation of Commercial and Residential players to create better funding opportunities and make self sustaining townships." Adding further, "You can't retrofit old cities with haphazard new technology and call them SMART cities. We need a holistic and inclusive approach from the inception stage of such projects."

This awards night was attended by who's who of India's Real Estate and Building Materials industry professionals. Estrade Awards, Singapore, is a strong networking platform to recognise the contribution of Indian professionals that include the real estate developers, building utilities, architects and interior designers.

Speaking at the Awards night, Jason Kothari, CEO, Housing.com said, "The Real Estate sector is projected to grow 14% year on year and grow to US$ 850 billion by 2028, accounting for about 13% of the GDP. Economic growth is projected to be 8% over the next 10 years, the highest in the world. Urbanization is expected to grow from 32% to 50% by 2050, this means that around 400 million people will be moving to urban areas. The Government's introduction of various initiatives, such as RERA (Real Estate Regulatory Authority), Housing for All by 2022 and easing for norms for FDI, make this the most exciting sector in not just India, but globally. I think that we are all very lucky to be at this time and place, and be a part of this exciting story in India over the next 10 years."

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-Chief, www.estrade.in said, "Real Estate sector alone contributes more than US$ 100 billion to India's economy, accounting for roughly 5% of the GDP. With the Government's push for better infrastructure, the potential for growth and opportunities is endless for all players." He further added, "When you see that Real Estate and Building Utilities players complement each other, a combined platform to bring them together is a major win for all. Moreover, Singapore being the financial and technological hub, and a leader across industries, offers great learning to Indian professionals. Estrade awards bring together the key stake holders every year."

Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan, Director, Moonpool Consulting Pte. Ltd also said, "There has to be an amalgamation of Commercial and Residential players to create better funding opportunities and make self sustaining townships." Adding further, "You can't retrofit old cities with haphazard new technology and call them SMART cities. We need a holistic and inclusive approach from the inception stage of such projects."

This awards night was attended by who's who of India's Real Estate and Building Materials industry professionals. Estrade Awards, Singapore, is a strong networking platform to recognise the contribution of Indian professionals that include the real estate developers, building utilities, architects and interior designers.

The panel discussion on the challenges faced by India's real estate sector was the highlight of the evening. Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-chief, www.estrade.in moderated the power packed session which included Amit Bhasin, Head Strategy, Housing.com along with the renowned Architect Christopher Benninger and Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan. The topics discussed include, Government of India's SMART cities project, Affordable housing – which is Hon'ble PM Shri Narendra Modi Ji's dream project "Housing for All by 2022", Funding in the Real Estate/Infrastructure Sector and new trends in Real Estate Architecture. This was the first time challenges faced by India's Real Estate sector were discussed at an international public forum.

Speaking at the Awards night, Jason Kothari, CEO, Housing.com said, "The Real Estate sector is projected to grow 14% year on year and grow to US$ 850 billion by 2028, accounting for about 13% of the GDP. Economic growth is projected to be 8% over the next 10 years, the highest in the world. Urbanization is expected to grow from 32% to 50% by 2050, this means that around 400 million people will be moving to urban areas. The Government's introduction of various initiatives, such as RERA (Real Estate Regulatory Authority), Housing for All by 2022 and easing for norms for FDI, make this the most exciting sector in not just India, but globally. I think that we are all very lucky to be at this time and place, and be a part of this exciting story in India over the next 10 years."

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-Chief, www.estrade.in said, "Real Estate sector alone contributes more than US$ 100 billion to India's economy, accounting for roughly 5% of the GDP. With the Government's push for better infrastructure, the potential for growth and opportunities is endless for all players." He further added, "When you see that Real Estate and Building Utilities players complement each other, a combined platform to bring them together is a major win for all. Moreover, Singapore being the financial and technological hub, and a leader across industries, offers great learning to Indian professionals. Estrade awards bring together the key stake holders every year."

Estrade Jury Member Arshi Pathan, Director, Moonpool Consulting Pte. Ltd also said, "There has to be an amalgamation of Commercial and Residential players to create better funding opportunities and make self sustaining townships." Adding further, "You can't retrofit old cities with haphazard new technology and call them SMART cities. We need a holistic and inclusive approach from the inception stage of such projects."

This awards night was attended by who's who of India's Real Estate and Building Materials Industry professionals. Estrade Awards, Singapore, is a strong networking platform to recognise the contribution of Indian professionals that include the real estate developers, building utilities, architects and interior designers.

Bangalore-based premium real estate developers, Vaishnavi Group were declared 'Developer of the Year (South)' at the recently concluded 2nd Estrade Real Estate Awards in Singapore. Additionally, the brand secured the Best Admired Upcoming Project of the Year, for their project Vaishnavi Gardens. These top honours were awarded to the Vaishnavi Group, who stood above the 200+ nominations judged by an eminent international jury with a collective experience of over 100 years. The advisory board and jury were international in mix - from Singapore and India, as well as other countries.

The award ceremony took place at the Grand Copthorne Waterfront, Singapore and saw in attendance the who's who of the Indian Real Estate and Building Materials industry.

Speaking on winning these awards, C.N. Govindaraju, Managing Director of Vaishnavi Group said, "Having been chosen from among 200 nominations and being recognized for our work ethos and standing in the industry is indeed an honour. We believe in 'building from the heart' and these awards are the perfect motivation for an already dedicated team to achieve larger goals."

Cyril Joseph, Senior Vice President, Marketing, Vaishnavi Group had this to say on the win, "This was an impressive event and it gave me immense pleasure to represent the organization and receive this award on its behalf. Being recognized on such a platform is a reiteration of the responsibility we have as leaders in the real estate field. Winning these awards is a great brand story for us. Ratification from an external agency for the quality work done is always a good thing, especially when you are in a business that faces a volatile market."

Vishwasjeet Singh, Editor-in-Chief, Estrade.in said, "Real Estate sector alone contributes more than US$ 100 billion to India's economy, accounting for roughly 5% of the GDP. With the Government's push for better infrastructure, the potential for growth and opportunities is endless for all players." He further added, "When you see that real estate and building utilities players complement each other, a combined platform to bring them together is a major win for all."
